INDEX

Number One (Winter 1993)
Poland: From Real Socialism to Democracy
Edited by Stephen L. Esquith and Marek Wilczynski

Stephen L. Esquith and Marek Wilczynski, Introduction 7

Adam Michnik, Communism, the Church, and Witches: An Interview With Leszek Kołakowski 13

I. Real Socialism

Leszek Nowak, Real Marxism in Real Socialism 39

Michal Buchowski, The Family Value System 61

Jan Grad, Customs and the Decay of "Real Socialism" 73

Marian Kempny, Between Savagery and Communism: On the Relevance of Social Anthropology to the Study of Post-Communist Culture 93

II. The Transition to Democracy?

A. Burdens of the Past

Leszek Nowak, The Hidden Sense of Clericalization: The Case of Eastern Europe 105

Marek Ziołkowski, Group Interests and Group Consciousness in the Process of System Transformation: The Case of Polish Intelligentsia 115

Marek Wilczynski, The Power of English: Notes on the English Language in Post-Communist Poland 135

Stanisław Kozyr-Kowalski, The Polish People and Their New Elites in the Parliamentary Elections 147

Joel Cutcher-Gershenfeld, Henryk Sterniczuk, and John Chalykoff, Emerging Patterns in Polish Labor Relations 169

B. Polemics of the Present

Bronisław Łagowski, An Open Letter to Thirty Year Olds on Social Subjectivity 189

Winicjusz Narojek, Engineering the Transition to Democracy ... 203

Maria Szyszkowska, The Appearance of Pluralism and the Rule of Law in Poland After the Fall of Communism 209

Henryk Szabała and Mirosław W. Michalczak, Democracy or Neo-Totalitarianism 217

III. Coda

Stephen L. Esquith, Real Post-Communism 231

Number Two (Spring 1993)

Daniel Kempton, Writing the Dictionary: The Education of Malcolm X 253

Christopher Coates, What Was the New Historicism 267

Richard Levin, The Politicized Language of Literary Criticism 281

Deborah D. Rogers, Eighteenth-Century Literary Depictions of Childbirth in the Historical Context of Mutilation and Mortality: The Case of Pamela 305

Moira Ferguson, Elizabeth Heyrick and Cruelty to Animals: Gender, Class, Nationalism 325

Laura R. Severin, Reading T. S. Eliot Reading D. H. Lawrence: The Significance of Gender 355

Poetry 369

Dimitris Tsaloumas, Song of the Just

Lynn Hugo deCourcy, From the Manger

Victor M. Depta, Strange Hope and Cousin Michael and the Hognose Snake

James Lineberger, Palm Reader, Communion, Hologram, and American Pie

Charles Edward Eaton, The Truss

Martha Ronk, Viola's (Lack of) Patience 384

Eyal Amiran, Apparent Offspring: Joyce's Beckett's Succession in the Wake 401

Joseph J. Wydeven, Dualism and Doubling in Wright Morris's War Games 415

Number Three (Fall 1993)

John McGowan, Thinking About Violence: Feminism, Cultural Politics, and Norms 445

Barbara Ryan, Beyond Embarrassment: Feminism and Adult Heterosexual Love 471

Katherine T. Meiners, Reading Pain and the Feminine Body in Romantic Writing: The Examples of Dorothy Wordsworth and Sara Coleridge 487

Poetry 513

Kathryn Hall, Last Minute Instructions
David Citino, With the Visiting Writer and Bread
Rebecca Baggett, Illiterate and Move
Lynn Hugo deCourcy, In the School of Dance and Her Loneliness
J. C. Ellefson, Getting Inside the University of the Road
Susan Luther, Agenda
Stuart Friebert, Egg Roast, Dry Moon, and The Imagining Eye
Gray Jacobik, Processes and Relationships and The Seven Sourpusses of Okolona, Illinois
Robert Cooperman, The General Compares His Late Wife to His Daughter
Randall R. Freisinger, The Psychological Present
Henry Gilfond, Holocaust
Errol Miller, For the Cutover Woods of Dixie, Ebb-Tide, and Lord Set My Feet on Higher Ground
William Virgil Davis, The Island
Hillel Schwartz, Walking With Donna Near Del Mar and NOR

Evan Watkins, Gramsci Us: Consumer Education and the Cultural Politics of Diversity 553

Lisa Schubert, Managing a Multicultural Work Force in Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves 571

Marvin Fisher, Melville's White-Jacket and the War Within.... 593

Eric Gorham, Democratic (Higher) Education: Inculcating Citizenship Through Teaching at the University 605